

Vetstoria now integrates with RoboVet by Covetrus

Thursday 18 November, 2021

Vetstoria, the world's only real-time veterinary appointment scheduling and productivity platform, is pleased to announce a new seamless integration with practice management software, RoboVet.

The latest addition to the 28 veterinary practice management software that Vetstoria natively integrates with, practices using RoboVet can now benefit from the time-saving efficiencies that Vetstoria brings.

The integration allows veterinary practices to offer real-time scheduling on their websites by ensuring schedules are well synced, eliminating discrepancies and double bookings. This saves the front desk hours every week while providing pet owners an enhanced scheduling experience.

"I have worked with Vetstoria now for a number of years and have long awaited the integration with my current PMS RoboVet", said Wayne Gillard (RVN), Practice Manager at the Neighbourhood Vet, London. "The Vetstoria team have been particularly attentive, and they have a product that manages online bookings incredibly well, with very clever features to allow you to manage those bookings without causing chaos in your practice!"

Highlights of the integration include:

- 24/7 online scheduling with payments
- Real-time calendar sync between Vetstoria and RoboVet
- Automated reminders and confirmations

"We are excited to continue growing our partnership with Covetrus through the RoboVet integration" said Julien Renard, CEO of Vetstoria. "Close to 900 UK veterinary practices using RoboVet will now be able to offer a seamless online booking experience to their clients"

Vetstoria adds value to practice management systems by automating every part of the appointment scheduling process. This includes online appointment booking in real-time, online payments, telemedicine, digital marketing, and advanced analytics so front desk staff can save time and provide exceptional pet care.
