We Buy Motors Offer Car Valuation Service to Help You Sell Your Used Car Easily

Thursday 2 February, 2017

We Buy Motors, the London based used car dealer today announced instantaneous car valuation services for customers intending to sell used cars.

Car owners desirous of disposing their vehicles generally spend a lot of time before getting their vehicles sold, often at prices below market value.

We Buy Motors introduced the hassle free car valuation service for sellers. On keying in the registration number online, the offered value gets displayed. On acceptance, the car is picked up from the seller's location, while the payment is released simultaneously, all within a period of 48 hours flat. All documentation and DVLA (Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency) formalities are handled by the firm. This aims to free owners from multiple hassles, such as documentation, waiting period, actual handing over and price negotiation.

Based on advanced algorithms and market data, the software relies on the make, model, year of registration, history of vehicle and mileage to make the valuation. The company claims that their offers are unmatched by the industry, offering the best prices and convenient services for sellers. The dynamic pricing adopted reflects the actual and on-date market indices in all offers. This pricing methodology leaves no room for manipulation, presenting an accurate evaluation of the resale value.

In the wake of security concerns about documentation of transferred vehicles, it makes it all the more important for V5C or V62 formalities to be completed. The team assists in completion of all documentation, which keeps the seller within the law, always. The service which has been used by close to fifty thousand users, has been phenomenally successful, across vehicle segments. The team at We Buy Motors has been geared up to meet increased demand as more and more users look for a trusted service that offers hassle free service at the best price.
