Monday 6 October, 2014

Two industry experts have come together to launch Website Builders Critic, a place where all the best website builders on the market are identified, reviewed and demonstrated.

EDMONTON, AB, London, UK (October 6th, 2014) – Mike Johnston and Kaya Ismail, who are well known within the industry for their work on CMS Critic, have come together to launch Website Builders Critic.

As the name implies, the two industry experts have compiled a number of the world's best website builders in order to review and demonstrate their abilities via practical examples.

Alongside simple and unbiased reviews, entrepreneurs and businesses alike can expect to find video tutorials for each major website builder. Such videos will illustrate how each website builder can be used to construct different website types, including blogs, online stores and portfolios.

Here are the website builders being focused on at the time of release:

- Squarespace
- Weebly
- Wix
- LightCMS
- Strikingly

The website builders above were chosen for their quality in terms of user friendliness, functionality and end product creation. Collectively, they offer Website Builders Critic readers and viewers a range of website building options, from online stores to one-page websites.
