Jason Foodman, a successful tech entrepreneur with a wealth of experience across the industry, has been appointed as the new Chief Executive Officer at PayPro Global.

Mr. Foodman is an experienced leader with an impressive history in the software industry, and has built and led numerous successful commerce-related companies over the years. In 1998 Foodman was actively involved in the development of one of the early eCommerce solutions, RegSoft.com, which was sold to Digital River in 2003.

In 2011 he was the Co-Founder of FastSpring, an all-in-one payment processing platform, serving more than 3000 software and SaaS companies around the world. Before its sale in 2016, FastSpring received multiple industry awards and accolades, and was recognised as one of the fastest-growing companies in the market by Forbes and Deloitte.

Meir Amzallag, co-founder of PayPro Global, explains that "I've known Jason for fifteen years, working together as partners during my time at BlueSnap. He is the best and most natural fit to guide PayPro Global into the future, given his strong strategic leadership skills, and his first-hand knowledge of our market. We are incredibly fortunate to have Jason join us, and to help lead PayPro Global into a new phase of growth". Mr Amzallag also stated that "with a strong command of our business, a focus on innovation and the proven ability to drive results in our industry, I am certain that Jason will play a key role in fulfilling PayPro Global's potential."

Regarding his appointment at PayPro Global, Jason Foodman gave the following statement:

"I'm very excited to join the PayPro Global team. This is a company that I have watched grow and develop, and have respected from afar for many years. I am just thrilled to now have the opportunity to be involved, and to help lead the company into 2020. We plan to invest in the business significantly over the coming months, leveraging our robust technology, as well as building upon our global sales presence to become a dominant force in the online commerce space."
