WVS wins ‘Animal Welfare Charity of the Year 2016’ award

Tuesday 13 December, 2016

Animal charity WVS (Worldwide Veterinary Service) has been awarded the accolade of ‘Animal Welfare Charity of the Year 2016’ at the Global Health and Pharma Awards.

The awards aim to acknowledge those who have gone beyond their duty of care to improve the welfare, care and health of animals.

WVS (Worldwide Veterinary Service) is a UK-based animal welfare charity that provides veterinary care to animals all over the world. From dog shelters in Thailand to wildlife veterinary clinics in Zambia, WVS are in action worldwide, providing veterinary care, running sterilisation and vaccination programmes.

WVS also provides an emergency response to animals that have been affected by natural disasters, sends veterinary parcels to animal charities worldwide containing essential veterinary supplies. WVS also provides training and education to veterinary workers to help provide a sustainable veterinary resource.

WVS Marketing Manager, Emma Harrison said, “We are delighted and honoured to receive this prestigious award from Global Health & Pharma and I accept this on behalf of our incredible team of staff and volunteers. Our aim is always to champion the welfare of animals all over the world and to be on the frontline of animal welfare.”
